

Customer Relations Process

Lead handling, follow-up cadence and account ownership — for APAC and APTI

SOP NO.	SOP-CRM-01	VERSION	1.0	EFFECTIVE	15 September 2026
OWNER	Customer Relations (CEA)	STATUS	In force · pending signature	NEXT REVIEW	15 December 2026
APPLIES TO	All staff who contact, quote, visit or sell to a customer or prospect — and to Nexi, which may prepare but never send.

CLAUSE 0 · THE GOVERNING RULE

Every account that is not won, lost or on hold carries exactly one open next action with a date on it. An account without one is a defect — shown red, counted daily, and no shift ends with one outstanding.

1 Purpose and scope

This procedure exists so that no customer or lead is forgotten. It sets who owns an account, how often each kind of account is contacted, how many times a prospect is pursued before the file is closed, and what must happen after a sample, a quote, a meeting or a delivery. It applies from the moment a name enters the lead book until an order exists in SOS Inventory, and thereafter for the life of the account.

2 Roles and authority

One account, one owner. Everything else is support. An account with no named owner may not leave new.

ROLE	OWNS	MAY DECIDE ALONE	MUST ESCALATE
Account owner Customer Relations	All contact, all logging, the next action, the stage	Cadence, channel, anything from the approved materials library, standard list price	Any discount, any credit term, any delivery promise
Nexi (the app)	Reminders, drafts, briefs, the daily list, materials	Nothing that reaches a customer	Everything outbound — it drafts, a person releases
Accounting	Credit and payment terms, overdue balances	Whether an account may be sold on terms	Terms outside the standard sheet
Dra. Amy · Eyal	Price, discount, blanket and long-term structures	All of the above	—
Supply / Logistics	Stock reality and delivery dates	What can actually be delivered, and when	—

Nothing reaches a customer unsigned. A price, a term or a delivery date leaves the company only after the person who owns that decision has released it. Automation grows by widening what Nexi may prepare, never by removing that release.

3 Account tiers and contact frequency

Cadence follows value. Tier is recalculated nightly from what is recorded; it is never set by hand.

TIER	DEFINITION	CONTACT AT LEAST	STANDING COMMITMENT
A · Key	A standing or blanket order in SOS, or an order in at least 3 of the last 4 weeks	every 7 days	Quality check after every delivery week · monthly menu and season review · quarterly on site with the Executive Chef
B · Growth	Ordered at least once in 90 days, or has an open quote or opportunity	every 14 days	Monthly offer of a new variety or a seasonal sample
C · Pursuit	Qualified, sampled or met — no order yet	every 7 days while in pursuit	Runs the pursuit sequence in clause 4 to its end
D · Cold list	On the lead book, never engaged	one sequence per quarter	One structured three-touch opening per quarter, worked in batches

4 The pursuit sequence — five touches, fourteen days

TOUCH	WHEN · CHANNEL	WHAT IS DONE
T1	Day 0 · call	First contact. If no answer, email the company profile and the current price list the same day.
T2	Day 2 · WhatsApp	A different channel, deliberately. Short, referring to what was sent, offering the farm video . Sent from the customer relations number, +63 917 116 0693.
T3	Day 5 · email	Offer a sample of the varieties that kitchen type actually uses.
T4	Day 9 · call	Ask for the Head of Purchasing by name. If reached, aim for a tasting with the Executive Chef.
T5	Day 14 · email	The closing question: “Shall I keep your file open?” A clear no is a good outcome; it is worth more than silence.

- 4.1 No reply after T5 → park for 30 days, then the sequence may run once more. After two parked cycles the account is closed lost with a reason. A file closed without a reason is not closed.
- 4.2 Never two touches on the same calendar day, on any channel.
- 4.3 Never more than five unanswered touches in a rolling 14 days.
- 4.4 At least one channel change inside every sequence.
- 4.5 Any reply — even “not now” — ends the sequence and starts a dated next action instead.
- 4.6 A tier-A target reaching the end is escalated to Dra. Amy or Eyal for one senior call before parking.

5 Event clocks

Clause 3 governs quiet accounts. These govern accounts where something has just happened — which is where work is most often dropped.

WHEN THIS HAPPENS	THIS IS DUE	IF NOTHING COMES BACK
An enquiry arrives (call, email, WhatsApp, website)	first reply within 4 working hours – same day, always	Escalates to the owner's supervisor at end of day
A sample is despatched	verdict chased day 4, again day 8	Day 10: recorded as no verdict, with a reason . Never left blank.
A quote is sent	follow-up day 3, again day 7	Day 14: decision or reason recorded; opportunity closed or re-dated
A meeting or tasting is held	minutes and action items the same day	Action items carry an owner and a date, or the meeting is not closed
A complaint is raised	acknowledged within 4 hours	Resolution inside the 48-hour SLA; a breach is visible on the board
A delivery is made (tier A and B)	quality check-in within 48 hours	Any issue becomes a complaint record, not a phone conversation
An order cycle is missed — a weekly buyer goes 10 days quiet	same-day churn call	Escalates to Dra. Amy or Eyal with the value at risk attached
A payment falls overdue	handled by Accounting, sales informed	Sales does not chase money; Accounting does not chase orders

6 Stage discipline

STAGE	MEANS	LEAVES ONLY WHEN
new	A name exists	An owner is named and the first touch is logged contacted	We have reached a person	We know what they buy, how much, and who decides qualified	They buy what we grow, in a volume worth serving	A sample is despatched or a meeting is set sample_sent	Product is with the kitchen	A verdict is recorded — good or bad
meeting	A tasting or site meeting has happened	Minutes, decisions and action items exist
proposal	A signed-off price is with them	They accept, refuse, or ask for a change
negotiation	Terms, volume or price under discussion	An order, or a recorded reason there is none
won	An order exists in SOS	Becomes tier A or B; never re-enters pursuit
lost · on_hold	Closed, with a reason	Reviewed in the monthly dormant sweep

6.1 A stage may not advance without the evidence its exit criterion names. Nexi proposes the change; the owner confirms it.

6.2 A stage that has not moved in 30 days is a stalled account and appears on the Monday review whatever its tier.

7 SOS Inventory is the truth about orders

The link runs one way: the app reads sales orders, customers and invoices from the APAC SOS account and never writes back to it.

7.1 An order exists when it exists in SOS. A note saying a customer agreed to buy is an opportunity, not an order.

7.2 Check SOS before acting — before a churn call, a chase, a re-quote, or any promise about stock or a delivery date.

7.3 Deliveries, open quantities and blanket structures are read from the APAC account only. Nothing supply-related is answered from APTI.

7.4 Accounting works from the same pull, so sales and accounting never argue from two different lists.

7.5 Because the link is read-only, no automated action can alter an order. An order is changed in SOS by a person, deliberately.

7.6 A figure older than 60 minutes is re-pulled before it is quoted to a customer. A stale or failed pull must read as unanswered, never as zero.

8 Meeting rhythm

WHEN	WHAT	WHO
Daily · 08:00	Nexi's list: due today, overdue, samples awaiting a verdict, quotes awaiting a decision — ranked by value at stake	Account owners
Daily · end of shift	Zero accounts without a next action. The day's only hard gate.	Account owners
Monday · 09:00	Pipeline review: new leads, stage changes, stalled accounts, sequences reaching their end, tier-A escalations	Customer Relations + Dra. Amy
Monthly	Dormant sweep and lost-reason review	Customer Relations + Dra. Amy + Eyal
Quarterly	Price list refresh, materials refresh, tier thresholds re-set, cold list re-worked	Eyal + Accounting

9 Materials library

A follow-up is only as good as what it carries. Every asset lives in one place with a version, a date and an owner; every send is recorded against the account. Gold items are gated — they may not be sent outside their template or past their validity date.

Price list

By variety and pack size, with a validity date. Expired versions cannot be sent.

owner Accounting + Eyal · quarterly · gated

Company profile

Who we are, the farm, the scale, the certifications. Standard first attachment at T1.

owner Eyal / Dra. Amy · quarterly

Product one-pagers

Per variety — romaine, butterhead, kale, basil, coriander, mixes: spec, pack size, shelf life, method.

owner Production · quarterly

Photography

Product, pack shots, greenhouse and harvest. Dated, so nothing years old goes out.

owner Customer Relations · each season

Farm and process video

Hydroponic method, harvest, packing and cold chain. The T2 asset.

owner Eyal · yearly

Food safety pack

Certifications, handling and traceability. Purchasing asks before a chef does.

owner Compliance · on renewal

Cold chain and reliability

Delivery windows, temperature handling, on-time record.

owner Logistics · quarterly

Tasting kit sheet

What a sample box contains, how to store it, and the four questions we want answered.

owner Customer Relations · quarterly

Quote · terms · blanket PO templates

Standard commercial documents. Anything outside the template needs the clause 2 signature.

owner Accounting + Eyal · gated

Reference list

Customers who have agreed to be named. Permission recorded against the account.

owner Dra. Amy · by consent only

- 9.1 One source of truth. If an asset is not in the library it may not be sent to a customer.
- 9.2 Every asset carries a version and a review date. An expired price list is blocked, not merely flagged.
- 9.3 Every send is recorded against the account, so the next conversation starts from what they already have.

10 What the system will refuse to allow

A rule nobody can break by accident is worth more than one everybody is asked to remember. These are enforced by the app.

CHECK	CONDITION	RESULT
C1	An open account with no next action	red · counted daily
C2	A next action whose date has passed	overdue, not hidden
C3	A sample past day 10 with no verdict	flagged
C4	A quote past day 14 with no decision	flagged
C5	A tier-A or tier-B account past its cadence interval	flagged
C6	A sixth unanswered touch inside 14 days	blocked
C7	An account closed lost with no reason	refused
C8	An outbound message carrying a price, a term or a delivery date without its signature	refused
C9	An expired price list attached to anything	refused
C10	An account in any stage with no named owner	flagged

11 Change control and known limitations

Every figure in this procedure is approved and in force. Two points are recorded here so they are reviewed deliberately rather than discovered later.

- 11.1 · The customer number is a staff number

Customer contact runs through +63 917 116 0693, which belongs to a member of staff rather than to the company. If that person leaves, the number and the whole chat history of every customer relationship leave with them. A company-owned sales number should replace it — to be decided at the next review at the latest, and sooner if practical.
- 11.2 · Tier A is behaviour, not a peso figure

Tier A is defined by how an account actually orders, taken from SOS, so it maintains itself and needs no threshold to be agreed or kept up to date. A monthly value may be added later if the tiers need to be widened beyond regular buyers.
